

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods and systems are disclosed for reducing resist residue defects in a semiconductor manufacturing process. The methods comprise appropriate adjustment of hardware, substrate, resist, developer, and process variables in order to remove resist residues from a semiconductor substrate structure in order to reduce resist
5     residue defects therein, including special vapor prime and development operations.

10050417-011602